aph to The Times. NEW YORK, April 8 .- | By the Associated Press.] Cabling his paper under date of the 7th the Herald's Caracas correspondent writes thus: "Advices have been received today from Lagetaya of another encounter by the Government and the insurgent forces under command of Gen. Crespo. It is said to have resulted in the utter rout of the rebels. They are reported to have fled in all directions and be so disorganized that will be difficult for them to be collected again in large enough numbers to cause Palacio any further anxiety. Crespo is said to have fled on horseback for the frontier and to be now in hiding somewhere in the mountains. His exact whereabouts are unknown. Government troops are reported to have occu-pled Gen. Crespo's residence. The au-thorities are jubilant. "Advices received by revolutionists here state, however, that their cause is progressing most favorably. Arms and ammunition continue to be secretly brought into Venezuela from Curacoa and other islands off the coast. Crespo's forces are recruiting and it requires much time to hear from the various provinces as the news of the overwhelming of the national legislature and or the judiciary is passed from mouth to

MAGNATES CENSURED.

Railway Directors Disciplined by the House of Commons. London, April 7 .- [By Cable and Associated Press.] In the House of Com-mons today Messrs. Buckley, Hawkins and McClure, the last-named being a member of house for the northeast division of Lancashire, all of whom are directors of the Canadian Pacific Railway, sepeared at the bar of the house to answer a summons charging them with censuring one of the railway employes who had before a parliamentary estified commission, inquiring into the hours of labor imposed upon railway servants, in such manner as served to intimidate them and other railway em intimidate them and other railway employés from testifying freely and fully in the matter the commission is inquiring into. The commission made a special report of the facts in this case and the above-named were summoned to appear before the House to explain their action. They all concurred in their regret for their language in censuring Hood, the employe referred to, and declared that their offense was unintentional.

unintentional. After a great deal of discussion Mr. Howell declared, amid cheers and shouts Howell declared, amid cheers and shouts of derision, that the directors ought to be sent to prison. A proposal to adjourn was defeated by a vote of 221 to 186, and the debate proceeded.

Balfour then moved that a motion made by Sir Michael Hicks-Beach that the Speaker admonish the railway directors for their brack of rivisiers, because the state of the s rectors for their breach of privilege, be put. Balfour's motion was received with loud shouts of 'Aye,' which were responded to by defiant Radical cries of 'No."

Dr. Tanner exclaimed, "No humbug," and was rebuked by the Speaker.

The uproar subsiding, Sir Michael Hicks-Beach's motion was carried by a rote of 849 to 70. The directors we The directors were then called to the bar of the House and the Speaker read the resolution, adding that the House had taken a lenient view of their conduct in accepting the apology they of-fered, and that the privilege of the House was no unreal, shadowy or unsubstantial thing.

MURDERER DEEMING.

He is a "Moral Monstrosity"-Story of Woman Whom He Courted.

MELBOURNE, April 7.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] Although the jury returned a verdict of wilful murde against Deeming, he has not altered his demeanor, and is as jocular and insolent as ever at times. Every day additional evidence is received, showing that the man is entirely devoid of con-science, although his bravery is questioned as his victims were all womer and children.

During the inquest yesterday the coroner read a note signed 'Lily.'

The writer said that the coroner must The writer said that the coroner must treat Deeming with greater impartiality. If he did not get justice the writer would take the coroner's life in open court. The letter is supposed to have been written by a crank or for a hoax. Despite his semblance of ease, Deem Despite his semblance of ease, Deeming in periods of abstraction is visibly haggard. He has lost flesh and his features are becoming pointed. The jailers keep a close watch upon him all the time, for it is believed he will kill himself if he gets a chance. He has studiously paid no attention to the evidence, except at times when he laughed at certain statements that were made The newspaper reporters were busily preparing verbatim reports of the pro-ceedings and the reporter of the Assoceedings and the reporter of the Associated Press, who was present with the correspondents of other press associations, prepared his cable messages in the courtroom. After a time Deeming noticed the messengers of the cable company passing and repassing and asked: "What have people abroad got to do with a murder committed here?" When Miss Rounzeville, his Sydney fiancée, went to the table to sign her testimony Deeming called to her, saying: "Katie, come to me." Miss Rounzeville paid not the slightest attention to him.

In nearly every place that Deeming has been he has shown a really valuable collection of weapons of various types. At the inquest he produced a battle-ax and a knife which Sergt. Mullins said he thought might have inflicted the wound that killed Mrs. Deeming.

In an interview which he had with his solicitor Deeming supplied Mr. Lyle with abundant material for his defense at the conjugation. The facts which he at the coming trial. The facts which he gave dated from the time of his birth and included much information regardand included much information regarding his infancy. During his conversation with the solicitor the prisoner remarked: "The world produces moral as well, as physical monstrostites." The line of defense which will probably be adopted at the trial is that Deeming's nature received a malignant impress prior to his birth which has marked all his actions during his life, and has left his actions during his life and has left him mentally incapable of overcoming homicidal impulses, with which he has been affected; in fact, that he was what the prisoner himself described as a

"moral monstrosity."

After the coroner's jury found Deeming guilty of murdering his wife his trial was fixed for April 26.

was fixed for April 26.

LONDON, April 7.—The Globe today says that a dressmaker living at the East End of London has recognized a portrait of Deeming as that of a man who courted her under the name of Lawson in August, 1888. She says they were walking together on the night of September 17, and parted from each other at 11 c/c/c/c/c. On the following the contract of the contract of the following that the contract of the following that the contract of the con each other at 11 o'clock. On the fol-lowing morning the shockingly muti-lated bodies of the women Stride and Eddowes were found in the Whitechapel district. The next day the dressmaker and Lawson had a conversation about the murders and the latter inadvertently said: "Look at the time! I could not have committed the murders." He immediately disappeared and she has not seen him since.

PROVIDENCE (R. I..) April 7 .- | By the Associated Press.] Complete returns from all parts of the State show a total vote on the State ticket of 54,746, an increase of about 10,000 over the largest vote ever polled before. The two parties raked every city and town almost bare of voters and got out an expectedly and unprecedentedly full vote in actual numbers and in proportion to the possible vote. The final re-turns show a great Republican victory on the State ticket. The cities of Providence, Newport and Woonsocket went Democratic on the State ticket. Legislature returns show good Republican majority, in both branches already, with many vacancies yet to be filled. Most of these failures yet to be filled. Most of these tailures to elect are in Providence and Newport. In the former city only three of the thirteen members of the Legislature were chosen and in Newport only one of six. Other failures were scattered among small towns.

Control of the Legislature by Repub licans gives them their choice of candidates for Attorney-General and General Treasurer, and secures beyond doubt the reflection of Nelson W. Aldrich to the United States Senate.

The Republicans are feeling very jubilant, as they have secured everything to be desired, the Legislature and all their State officers and a United States Senator, while the Democrats are crestfallen, having nothing to hope for from a second election, except local influence and indorsement.

The complete returns give Brown, (Rep.,) 196 majority over Wardwell, (Dem.) Gilbert, (Pro.) polled 1590 votes and Burton, (People's) 1960. Melville Bull, (Rep.) is elected Lieutenant-Governor by 11,310 majority. George R. Utter has 287 majority and is rediected Secretary of State.

RAILROAD AFFAIRS.

What the Court Says About River side's Motor Road.

No Lease Has Yet Been Made of the Prop erty-Southern Pacific Official Cast-General and Local Notes.

Conflicting rumors concerning the lestiny of the Southern California Motor Road have been rife lately and appear to be used for various effects in Riverside and San Bernardino, the terminal points of the little line. To settle the question whether or not the motor road has been leased to the Southern Pacific, as is being claimed by certain persons, a Times reporter yes-terday sought some information of Judge Ross, of the United States District Court, from whom Receiver I. N. Polk derives his authority.

"The motor road has not been leased by the Southern Pacific or any other corporation or individual," said Judge Ross. "Such an action cannot be taken Ross. "Such an action cannot be taken without an order from this court. There is, however, nothing to prevent any corporation or individual from acquiring the stock and bonds of the road from the holders of the securities." "But such a transfer would not now change the control of the road, would it?" was asked.
"The control of the road could not change until it is taken out of the hands of the receiver, who is an agent of the court. This cannot be done before the time set for hearing the suit in fore-closure. May 18." closure, May 16."

This from Judge Ross effectually set-tles the matter as far as it relates to the present situation. What will become of the property upon its sale under foreclosure some time subsequent to May 16 next is not so easily determined.

LITTLE RHODY has the congratulations of the whole country on the outcome of her election Wednesday.

GRIFFITH, the self-alleged Pixley train-robber, is too valuable a liar to lose. He ought to be brought home and made a life member of the Sazerac Club. THE Democrats of Louisiana are entitled to congratulations on the fact that they have not only gone through an election, but also an alleged count ing out by a returning board without a resort to their Winchesters.

A NEWSPAPER correspondent who passed through Banning the other day, on his way to the Indian reservation to look up the record of Indian Agent Rust, stated that copies of papers containing reports of the archæologist's transactions have been sent to Indian Commissioner Morgan and other authorities at Washington and that a strong effort is making to have Rust "removed. Sometimes bric-a-brac and Indian politics are as dangerous things to meddle with as a burglar alarm.

IT looks as though, by the time Col. Russell gets well settled in command of the Seventh Regiment, there will be no Seventh Regiment left to command. A bull in a china shop is hardly a sufficient simile to bring up in comparison with this doughty Colonel. If the head of the California militia had exercised a little firmness and tact in shelving this man with a shady reputation the present unsatisfactory state of affairs might have been avoided. Nobody blames the officers for resigning and the men for asking to be mustered out of the service. There is a legal way to dispose of the matter still open.

It is stated that the Pacific Mail Steamship Company has alienated the good will of the Central Americans by its policy of charging "all the traffic will bear" and cinching every port at which it holds a monopoly of the ocean carrying trade. Now the Salvadorians are talking of subsidizing a line of steamers to Chilean ports, with the idea of changing their trading-place and displacing California wares and produce. That will be the logical conclusion of the Pacific Mail's policy of discrimination, repression and abuse. It has already done much to hamper California trade, and will kill it altogether with Central America if it continues the same policy. And yet this is the company that is paid a large subsidy by the Government to carry the PROF. D. W. Coquillett reports that he has succeeded in domesticating the blue lady-bird, a small consignment of which, sent from Australia by Mr. Koebele, reached Los Angeles some months As only a few of the insects came to hand alive, and they arrived in an unpropitious season, it was feared that they might not make a successful colony. Prof. Coquillett writes to a gentleman of Tustin: "A few days ago I found several of these larvæ on an or ange tree in open air, where I had placed some of the beetles on the 24th of January. One of the larvæ was feeding upon a red scale. It acts very much like that of the twice-stabbed lady-bird. I am not yet prepared to say whether or not these larvæ will be able to free our trees of the red scale." It is encouraging to know that the little blue in sects have begun to propagate and mulning of the good work. If they only prove as efficacious with the red scale as the vedalia proved with the white the worst remaining pest of the Californi a orange and lemon orchards will soon be a thing of the past.

THE San Jacinto and Pleasant Valley Irrigation District, formed under the Wright law, will vote on the 16th inst. on a proposition to issue $350,000 in bonds. Of the proceeds it is proposed to appropriate $158,000 for the purchase of water-rights owned by Fairview Land and Water Company and the San Jacinto Water Company, and the balance of the money is to bring the water and build a distributing system. It is claimed that a flow of 220 inches of water at the lowest stage would thus be acquired from Strawberry and North Fork, and that much more might be deloped. The Herald, of Banning ands a note of warning to the people of the district, claiming that severa es within the past ten years there ot been one inch or one drop of water flowing in these streams during dry seasons. The Herald advises the to wait and make investigations next summer before saddling themselves with debt for twenty years and "buying nation upon the subject, but Davy tett's advice is pretty good on gen-principles. THE TIMES-MIRROR COMPANY.

Two Phases of Aristocracy.

Through the principal streets of this city yesterday there was driven a barouche with top down in dress-parade style, and, reclining in easy attitudes upon the cushions of the carriage, were a colored man and woman. On the high seat in front beside the driver was a little colored boy, presumably the joy of the family, dressed in regimentalsa flery red coat and fez and other adornments such as are usually affected by the hand-organ monkey. There were no banners upon the carriage to proclaim the character of the occu pants, but the natural presumption was that they have something to do with the "cake walk," just inaugurated in Los Angeles. As the curious outfit drove along the street the passers-by smiled in a sardonic way, and many turned to gain a last dissolving view and smiled again. The spectacle was quite unusual and somewhat ridiculous. And yet, when we come to think of it, what is the difference between this dress parade of the colored people and that other parade affected by some to the bon ton who ape the ways of the English aristocracy and drive through the streets in a dog-cart, or "wagon, or chaise, with a nightmare of a har ness on the horse and a "Wilkins" in the last stages of rigidity on the driver's seat with a big buckle on the side of his plug hat? Let some psychologist who is gifted in reading the athoughts and ambitions of people and sounding the depths of their motives tell us the difference. One is a vulgar display as much as the other. One originates in a desire to attract the attention of the 'common horde' as much as the other One is revolting to people of quiet hab its and discriminating tastes as much as the other.

But, beyond this, there is a difference. The first is an exhibition of "shoddy" by people who are just fairly out of the clutches of slavery-whose ancestors have not enjoyed the benefit of centuries of good breeding and edu cation, but who were brought from the barbarities of an African jungle and subjected for generations to the only half-civilizing influences of involuntary servitude. If, in the first flush of their larger opportunities, with money to spend for their personal gratification they occasionally "slop over" with such vulgar ostentation, it is not much wonder. We should have the same consideration for them that we have mails and promote American commerce. for the Indian when he arrays himself in a breech-clout and a cast-off claw hammer coat and "stovepipe" hat with feathers in it. But, of the other display of shoddy what can be said in extenuation? Noth ing, simply nothing! It is all vulgarity and that vulgarity has not even the poor excuse of ignorance for a founda tion. It is perpetrated by people of the American race-people of supposed education, of known wealth, and of alleged culture. It has not even the merit of originality, for it is a poor copy of the aristocratic display of an other people. It is a weak, silly imitation, and nobody laughs at it more heartily than do the people whose manners are imitated.

Let the cake-walk outfit and the dog cart of the Anglomaniac drive up stree side by side. One is an antidote for the other. Both are excruciatingly funny in the eyes of the average American with democratic tastes and a regard for good, honest American traditions Both are the efforts of shallow-pated people to excite the admiration and the envy of the multitude, and the perpetrators have not the discrimination to now that they excite only ridicule and quiet contempt.

A REACTION against the brutal sport of the prize ring is certainly coming. It matters not how we disguise the thing by calling it "an exhibition of science." "a display of the manly art," or "glove contest," the underlying principle is animal ferocity. Such ferocity is a discredit to our intellectual age An exchange, discussing this subject,

It is certainly true that there is a stron It is certainly true that there is a strong and growing public sentiment against our existing system of so-called athletic sport in the roped ring. The time is coming when such generally repugnant parading of valueless courage, simulated endurance, trickery, lust for notoriety and for the opportunity to gamble for gold sprinkled with a little worthless blood, well receive a final quietus.

Certain ill-informed persons are making representations in Washington that the Government attempts to create a harbor at San Pedro merely involve a waste of money, and that no good results can be obtained by the expenditure. Of course this is not true. There is no engineering obstacle in the way of creating a safe place for shipping at the point named, and Los Angeles county and city require such facilities. San Diego enjoys such great natural advantages she ought not begrudge her neighbors obtaining artificial ones. Her true course would be to lend aid to Los-Angeles to have San Pedro put into good shape. Such a policy would insure a friendly return from Los Angeles, which would assist materially in developing the whole Southern California region. The opposite policy will only result in neither place getting any help, for there is nothing the Eastern Congressman is so quick to take advantage of as the bickerings of others, which permit him to grab everything in sight for his own constituents.

TORNADOES, blizzards and floods! The reports of weather antics in the South and West are fairly disheartening and excite commiseration for those whose property has been swept away during the past week and pity for the killed and injured. It is only by such contrasts as these that we are enabled to appreciate the blessings of California weather.

AT THE PLAYHOUSES.

GRAND OPERAHOUSE. - William Gillette's somewhat risque domestic comedy, All the Comforts of Home, was produced by Mr. Frohman's company of actors at the Grand last night, and scored a success. The house was not overly large, but it was kept in such a mirthful mood from the time the curtain went up until 10:45 o'clock, and the laughter was so boisterous, that the people not in the vacant seats never were missed.

All the Comforts of Home is a play based bpon a penchant supposed to repose in some male human characters for pretty opera-singers and a taste for sly flirtations with that supposably seductive kind of a piece of calico. The jealous wife is well represented in the play, as might be expected, and as the situations are very clever and as the players are even cleverer—most of them—than the play, everything went with dash and spirit.

Kate Denin Wilson as "Josephine Bender" cleverer—most of them—than the play, everything went with dash and spirit.

Kate Denin Wilson as "Josephine Bender" did some excellent comedy work; Samuel Edwards as her husband, "Theodore Bender," was excruciatingly droll; Maud Haslam as "Fifi Oritanski" the opera singer, played the somewhat delicate part with great discretion and was quite "one of the features of the play," as the baseball editor has it. Trella Foltz made an acceptable "Evangeline Bender." S. Miller Kent as "Aifred Hastings" was excellent, and the whole company showed sundicient ability to warrant us in saying that Mr. Gillette's bright production was fully as well produced as it deserved to be. Although the piece has been presented here before, the handsome manner in which it is staged and handled makes one pleased to see it again. handled makes one pleased to see it again, and those who like funny playing can get an evening of excellent amusement out of the present attraction. The Murderer of Marshal Wilson No

[San Diegan.]
Notwithstanding the decision of the Supreme Court of the State of California the opinion is freely expressed at the county jail that Murray, the mur-derer of Marshal Charles Wilson, will not be hanged.

The opinion of the Supreme Court was he opinion of blindfolded justice. The opinion expressed at the county ail is an opinion from those who daily ee Murray. At the jail they say Murray will not be hanged because he could not live long enough to be taken to a scaffold. He would die on the way if he started toward the death-trap today. Murray is more than half dead now.

and as a matter of fact his attendants have up to this time refused to inform him of the court's decision, for fear that while they were telling it he would die before their eyes. Unless the informa-tion reaches him accidentally he will not be informed of the decision until it is received in official form and it becomes an official duty to inform him During the past few weeks Murray has been, steadily growing worse. About a year ago he lost the use of his legs and the entire lower half of his body, but now his knees are drawn up to his breast and the cords are set. His feet are swollen out of shape. On each knee is a bed-sore the size of the palm of one's hand. On his back is a festering ulcer which could not be covered by two outspread hands, and which discloses fully two inches of exposed backbone.

In such a condition it would be nece sary to carry the murderer to the gal-lows on a stretcher and to hold him on the stretcher while the noose was being adjusted.

Murray's mind seems unaffected, but he has entirely lost that bravado he displayed when first arrested. Two weeks ago he thought he was about to die, and begged hard to be taken out into the yard, so he would not "die in jail."

ers Prepared to Enter Indian Land

Washington, April 7.—[By the Associated Press.] The Senate proceeded to the consideration of the bill making appropriations for expenses of the gov-ernment of the District of Columbia. While the bill was under consideration Mr. Stewart made a personal explanation on the subject of an article in vesterday's New York Evening Post, containing a list of mortgages made to him in Alamo, Cal., whereon there was an obligation that payment should be made in gold coin. These mortgages, he said, resulted from sales of property at auction through a firm of brokers in San Francisco. The mortgages, he pre-sumed, were drawn up in usual blank form which contained an obligation to pay in gold. He had never seen them, but had no doubt that that was the case. It arose from what was known as the "Pacific contract law" passed in 1863, which was still in force there, under which gold standard had been maintained there during the war.

Mr. Hale hoped the Senator would see to it that no such thing should take place in the future. place in the future.

Mr. Stewart promised to do so, and added that he would be glad to be paid in any kind of money. He had always been opposed to the "Pacific contract law," which, he thought, had operated to the great detriment of the Pacific Coast. He repeated that the brokers had drawn up the contract in the usual had drawn up the contract in the usual way and he was not responsible for that.

An amendment to the District Bill, appropriating $75,000 for the reception and entertainment of the next encampment of the G.A.R. in Washing-

During the discussion the bill to place wool on the free list was received from the House, and after the District Bill was laid aside the Wool Bill was laid before the Senate by the Vice-President and was referred to the Adjourned. House-Mr. Wilson of West Virginia

After many good-natured remarks by the different Representatives Mr. Funston in unmeasurable terms and in language more forcible than polite deguage more forcible than polite de-nounced the correspondent of the Voice, and called upon decent corres-pondents to kick him out of town. THE BURBANK-DENNIS SUIT. Judge Clark rendered his decision yesterday in the case of A. L. Burbank vs. L. W. Dennis et. al., an action to obtain an accounting, findings and decree being ordered for the plaintiff therein in accordance with a lengthy, but interesting, opinion, in which all the facts of the case are reviewed. The defendants organized the San Gabriel Valley Land and Water Company in May, 1887, for the purpose of placing certain lands they had negotiated for upon the market. At the time of the organization of this corporation the subscribers to the capital stock thereof agreed that they should each pay $12.50 per share upon their subscriptions, and all of them except the defendants L. W. Dennis, H. H. Markham, John. P. Sanborn, Charles E. Raymond, C. N. Vanderlip and D. E. Miles paid the amount so agreed upon to Defendant Dennis, receiving credit therefor on the books of the corporation, and said money so advanced became the property of the corporation and part of its capital stock. On June 1, 1887, Dennie reported to the corporation that he had received from the San Gabriel Valley Land and Water Company $200.000; that he had on L. W. Dennis et. al., an action to obtain ration that he had received from the San Gabriel Valley Land and Water Company $200,000; that he had on hand to be paid to the treasurer of said company the sum of $6833.83, and had disbursed on contracts the sum of $193,666.67. Instead of having paid said sums as he reported, Dennis had in said sums as he reported, Dennis had in fact paid only $88,166, and had re-maining as profits and cash, and credits on the subscriptions of defendants to the capital stock, the sum of $83,000. The question which the case presented was whether the defendants should be permitted to retain said profits, but the Court says: "The mere statement of the foregoing facts would seem to be sufficient to show that they should not,

After suffering for years with stomach trouble I was at last induced to try Dr. Wong Him, of No. 689 Upper Main street, Los Angeles. He examined me and pronounced my trouble tumor in the stomach. After two months' treatment, during which time I felt greatly relieved and benefited, he pronounced me entirely cured, and from that time to the present, which is four months, I have not felt the least return of my old trouble. I am able to eat many things which formerly would distress me very much. Therefore I feel that I can do nothing else than to recommend the doctor to all who can be induced to try him. The big score is not an indication that "Easy" was a "snap" by any means, either, for he pitched a good, steady game, and had he been given the support that a pitcher good, steady game, and had been given the support that a pitcher is expected to receive in anything but a country finateur club, the score would have been somewhere near even. The Oakland pitcher soaked them in so effectively that the eleven hits allowed the Angels were kept well scattered, but the Colonels bunched their errors whenever that kind of work was needed to let in a few runs.

In the first inning Wright and Glenalvin reached first on errors by Bushman and Carroll, and both of them after-ward scored. In the second "Kid" Hulen sent a two-bagger to center and scored on errors by Hutchinson and "Consin Park." Stafford singled and was brought home by Wright's sacrifice

In the seventh 'Pop' McCauley waited for four balls, Newman singled and they both scored on Hulen's single and Smith's error. In the eighth Tredway's hit was fumbled by O'Brien, Glenalvin walked to first and both scored on McCauley's triple to center.

The Oakland's only run was earned in the sixth inning, when Carroll planted a two-bagger against the left-field fence and scored on Wilson's long single to right. Following is the official score:

Ex-Preacher Fleming Will Not Wear Stripes.

His Case Reversed and Remanded by the Supreme Court.

The Supreme Court yesterday rendered its decision in the celebrated case of the people vs. Samuel J. Fleming, reversing the judgment and order of the lower court, and remanding the cause. Fleming was formerly a Methodist preacher, and was at one time at the head of the Chautauqua Association. He figured in a number of more or less discreditable transactions in which his actions showed that he was wholly unfitted for the position he occupied, and his conduct was finally officially investigated at a church trial. officially investigated at a church trial. In this contest Fleming secured a sort of "scratch verdict," and he then instituted suit against his fellow-churchmen who had been pushing the charges against him for $50,000 damages for defamation of character. This suit was pending when Fleming was arrested on a charge of assault to commit rape, the complaining witness being a Swedish girl named Anna Peterson, a domestic in Fleming's employ. The case was a scandalous one, and Fleming's wife at once instituted suit for divorce. It then came out that Fleming's home life had not been such as might have been expected from a minister, and there were disclosures that turned the tide of the woulder ray of the work of a cts and conduct of the defendant were not only equivocal and consistent with that of the woulder ray can also should be fall and twere not only equivocal and consistent with that of the woulder ray. The case and at were not only equivocal and consistent with that of the woulder ray and the cis and the case and the acts and conduct of the defendant were not only equivocal and consistent with that of the would consistent with that of the work and the cis and to sorb and twere not only equivocal and consistent with that of the work and the cis and the case and conduct of the defendant were not only equivocal and consistent with that of the work and the cis and the were disclosures that turned the tide of public opinion all against the smooth ex-preacher. The examination and trial were highly sensational. The girl told her story in a plain, straightforward way that left no room for doubt that Fleming, while under the influence of wine, one night entered her room, where she was sitting up with his sick child, his wife being absent at the time, took improper liberties with her, and attempted by persuasion and otherwise to induce the girl to submit to his desires. Fleming, on the other hand, set up as a defense that the poor, ignorant girl, like Potiphar's wife of old, had attempted to seduce him, and he, like virwere highly sensational. The girl told tempted to seduce him, and he, like virtempted to seduce him, and he, like virtuous Joseph, being proof against her wiles, she had made up this foul story to ruin him. The absurdity of this plea was so manifest and the jury was so disgusted with the defendant's action in thus trying to shield himself even at the expense of the reputation of the woman, who had preserved her witten against who had preserved her virtue against his assault, that a verdict of guilty was promptly returned, and Fleming was sentenced to three years in San Quenan appeal was taken to the Supreme Court, which passed upon the case yes-terday in the following opinion: terday in the following opinion:

THE OPINION.

The defendant was convicted of an assault with intent to commit rape, and now appeals from the judgment and order denying his motion for a new trial. The prosecuting witness was a servant girl of the age of 24 years, doing the housework for defendant and his family.

The errors of law relied upon by counsel for a reversal of the judgment are not well for a reversal of the judgment are not well tin by Judge Smith. From this decision for a reversal of the judgment are not we taken, and the only question remaining whether or not the evidence is sufficient whether or not the evidence is sufficient to support the verdict of the jury. The events which occurred at the time the alleged assault was committed, as depicted by the prosecuting witness and the defendant are directly contradictory in all essentials, and under those circumstances the finning of the jury to the extent that it involved the veracity-of these two parties will not be disturbed. The testimony as disclosed by the record upon all salient matters pertaining to the commission of the offense consists of the evidence of the prosecuting vitness alone; still, if her evidence was sufficient to prove the crime and the jury gave credence to it, the verdict should be upheld. (People vs. Mayes, 66 Cal., 597.)

should be upheld. (People vs. Mayes, 66 Cal., 597.)
After a careful examination of the evidence of the prosecuting witness, conceding it to be true in all particulars, we conclude that it does not establish a prima facle case of the crime of assault with intent to commit rape.

Section 261 of the Penal Code reads: "Rape is an act of sexual intercourse, ac-complished with a female, not the wife of the perpetrator, under either of the following circumstances: (3,) Where she resists but her resistance is overcome by force or violence." In Russell on Crimes (vol. 1, p. 692.) the author quotes with approval the principle laid down in Rex vs. Lloyd (7 C. and P. 318.) wherein it was held: "In order to find the prisoner guilty of an assault with intent to commit rape you (the jury) must be satisfied that the prisoner, when he had hold of the prosecutrix, not only desired to gratify his passions upon her person, but that he intended to do so at all events, and notwithstanding any resistance on her part." In the case of the State vs. Hagerman (47 lowa, 162) the Court said: "The assault must have been made with the intent to commit a cape, notwithstanding all possible resistance that could be made. The intent must have been to perpetrate the crime at all events, circumstances: (3,) Where she resists made with the intent to commit a rape, notwithstanding all possible resistance that could be made. The intent must have been to perpetrate the crime at all events, regardless of what the prosecutrix might or could do to prevent it." This principle of law is supported by the great weight of authority and cannot be questioned. It would subserve no good purpose here to recite the evidence of the prosecutrix as to the respector of the accusation. By her testimony it is apparent that defendant desired to have sexual intercourse with her, and that he committed either an assault or battery upon her of a technical character at least, while engaged in his solicitations and blandishments, but these things may all be true and be entirely foreign to any intention on his part to commit the crime of rape by the use of force to the extent of overcoming all resistance she might offer. In the case of the Commonwealth vs. Merrill (14 Gray 415.) the facts were very similar to the facts adduced by this record, and the Court reversed the judgment upon the weakness of the evidence and ordered a new trial. In that case the Court said: "We think it entirely clear that the evidence at the trial of this case fell far short of proving any intent by the prisoner to have carnal knowledge of the prosecutrix by force and against her will. There was ample proof of gross indecency and lewdness, and of an attempt by long continued and urgent solicitations and inducements to lead the prosecutrix to consent to the wish of the prisoner to have sexual intercourse with her. These facts would have been sufficient to warrant a jury in finding the prisoner guilty of an assault.

It is, therefore, necessary that the acts and conduct of the prisoner should be shown to be such that there can be no reasonable doubt as to the criminal intent. If the acts and conduct of the prisoner fould the found of equally consistent with the absence of the felonious intent charged in the indictment, then it is clear that they are insufficient to warrant a verdict of guil The first couple started in painting with the cast of step and did not "fall in" till they reached San Bernardino. These facts would have been sufficient to warrant a jury in inding the prisoner to have sexual intercourse with her. These facts would have been sufficient to warrant a jury in inding the prisoner while the prisoner should be shown to be such that there can be no reasonable doubt as to the criminal intent. If the acts astent with the absence of the elabora intent charged in the indictment, then it is clear that they are insufficient to warrants a verdict of guilty."

As was said in Pefferling vs. State (40 Tex., 493.) "There is a manifest distinction between an assault to commit a rape and an assault with intent to have an improper connection. Any such violent or improper connection. Any such viol think the conduct of the defendant did not indicate that settled purpose to use whatever force was necessary upon the prosecutrix to accomplish the consummation of his desires; and that is the test the law demands in order that his guilt should be adjudged. It can hardly be said that the defendant used force to any degree and from all the cir-

and that is the test the law demands in order that his guilt should be adjudged. It can hardly be said that the defendant used force to any degree, and from all the circumstances of the affair it would appear that physical force was not an element in his mind in attempting to carry out his intentions. There was no duress upon the part of the prosecutrix, no fear of personal violence, for there were no threats of violence. The defendant sought only to accomplish his purposes by promises, persuasions and arguments. The intent to commit the rape is the vital element in the case. A rape was not accomplished, hence the intent of the defendant must be determined from his acts and conduct. If he had intended to use force in carrying out his purpose, why was it not done? Why was not the crime of rape committed? It is conceded the woman was not possessed of a sufficient/power or resistance, if he had used physical force. The law says there is no intent to commit rape unless a defendant is resolved to use all the force necessary to carry out his designs. He could have carried out his designs by using force, but at the very moment when his success was assured, when according to her statement, she was exhausted and her refusals and opposition to his desires had ceased, at that moment he voluntarily left her bed and retired to an adjoining room, where he passed the remainder of the night. His departure was no flight for there was no alarm; there was no danger of discovery; and the conduct of the defendant at this time was entirely inconsistent with that of the would-be ravisher. The acts and conduct of the defendant with that of the would-be ravisher. consistent with that of the would-be ravisher. The acts and conduct of the defer

WALKING FOR THE CAKE.

Unique Entertainment at the Pavilion Last Evening.

ev en Couples Entered for the Prize Darky Songs and Dances Make Up the Stage Performance-Tonight's Programme.

The ladies and gentlemen of color gave an entertainment last evening at Hazard's Pavilion which was largely patronized by the bon-ton of society. Long before the "cake walk" began the bright and shining lights of the social world were leaning over the gallery railing gazing at the model of the kite-shaped track which was chalked upon the floor, and over which were to walk the contestants for the handsome cake mounted on a flag-draped stand at one side of the platform.

Mr. and Mrs. Hancock Banning and Miss Glassell formed a box party in the gallery, and near by were Dr. and Mrs. McGowan, Mrs. Briggs, Mr., and Mrs.

William Friesner.

Dan McFarland and family also occu-pied a loge in the gallery, and Mr. and Mrs. Modini-Wood and Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Fleishman made up a jolly theater

Mr. and Mrs. Telfair Creighton, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Lankershim, Mr. and Mrs. Pridham, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Pla-Mrs. Pridham, Mr. and, Mrs. J. E. Pla-ter, George W. Parsons, Charles Dods-worth, Mrs. P. M. Gallaher and Baron and Baroness Rogniat leveled their opera glasses from the gallery. Lieut. and Mrs. Collins, and Dr. F. K. Ainsworth were an interested trio in the front row of the parquette.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Stern, Ben Stern and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Frank and Miss Harris formed a party in the dress circle. The early part of the evening was occupied by a stage entertainment of darky songs and dances, interspersed with music from the orchestra. The Star Male Quartette was received with special enthusiasm, being recalled no less than six times.

The first contest of the evening was The first contest of the evening was a pie-eating contest between six small colored boys, who knelt before as many chairs ranged in a row on the stage. On each chair reposed a big lemon pie with an inch-thick float on top. At the word "go" from the master of ceremonies the colored kids fell to, the audience applauded and when "time" was called but little pie was visible, save what was on each boy's face. Willie Brown won the prize of $2.50.

The orchestra then took possession of the stage, and the judges filed into place, taking seats immediately in front. Thomas A. Lewis led, blushing like a peony, as the colored master of ceremonies remarked that the most prominent gentleman in town the most prominent gentleman in town had consented to act in this capacity. The assistant postmaster and his confreres, F. S. Hicks, J. J. Mellus, George J. Denis, Col. I. H. Polk and Maj. Edgerton, sank into the row of chairs admid the applause of the audience, and shortly after the orchestra struck up a lively march and the cake walkers ap peared. There were seven couples, the ladies dressed in the extreme of fashion. Beginning at Los Angeles they marched in procession once around the kite-shaped track and then went round, couple by couple, separately, in order to give the judges an opportunity to note the style, deportment and grace of each.

The first couple started in painfully out of step and did not "fall in" till they reached San Bernardino. The

At the meeting of the order of the O.E.S. last evening an address was delivered by Judge Utley from Ohio on the "Relationship of O.E.S. to Masonry." Fine music was rendered, namely two quartettes by Messrs. Cole, Smith, Parker and Collinwood; vocal solos by Mr. Troupe and Miss Forbes, the latter singing a song entitled Forbes, the latter singing a song entitled "Yellow Roses," and after an encore was presented with a basket of symbolic flow-ers. A violin solo and an orchestra rendi-tion, followed by conversation and refreshments, closed the evening's entertainment planted, and everything speaks of industry and thrift.

In the little valley of La Cañada, visible from Devil's Gate, ranch houses have been built, oak and sycamore supplanted by deciduous and citrus trees, and fertile fields abound where a few years ago greasewood held sway. The arroyo banks are planted with eucalyptus, not only as a preventive of danger from washouts, but as a source of fuel supply.

In not-forgotten days the irrigating process in this little valley was by filling the barrel from the ford; now strong cemented reservoirs contain the precious fluid, sure preventive of disastrous effects from the early or latter rain.

DISTINGUISHED GUESTS AT CAMP WILSON. About 1:30 p.m. yesterday Prof. Eliott, Walter Raymond, Prof. Lowe and several friends started for Wilson's Peak in festive style. The four-in-hand which bore then to the foot of the trail was garlanded with smilax looped up with streamers of crim son, the Harvard color, in honor of the dis tinguished president, and the prancing steeds bearing the precious freight, repre-senting so-much brain, influence and capi-tal were decorated with pompons of crim

The Art Loan is doing an increasing business on account of the near approach of Easter, and the many pretty pictures in their collection form a suitable souvenir of "resurrection time," which will be particularly appreciated by friends in the East.

Great confusion arose on the matter

One delegate moved to adopt the national platform of the St. Louis convention of February 22. The motion was adopted by a large majority, but the ladies nearly all voted against it.

Nothing in it. You can give the lie to that report on the start. The four great principles in which the Citizens' Alliance stands are opposition to foreign syndicate ownership of land, favering adjustment of labor troubles by arbitration, free and unlimited coinage of silver, Government ownership and operation of transportation transportation companies by organized effort.

Therefore it becomes necessary for the farmers now to organize politically as the Peoples' party. We favor the sub-treasury plan or anything better. If Judge Widney has a better plan we are ready to adopt it. We believe in getting where we can all pull together, and by explaining this at a meeting of the Painters' Union the other night we captured that organization and organized the Third Ward Alilance. All troubles can be settled by talking rationally and the polls is the great birthright of the American citizen to get redress. We are against strikes and boycotts and invite a free discussions at our meetings. After these discussions private meetings are held, which are secret only so far as necessary to keep out persons intending to do us harm, and to prevent the slick politicians from scooping us out.

I rather expect we will have a contest being us out.

I rather expect we will have a contest before the convention is over. The Nationalists want People's party clubs formed and the Citizens' Alliance is against that plan. We want to be an independent party, free to choose the best men in accord with our principles. The Citizens' Alliance was formed to act in the city in conjunction with the Farmers' Alliance in the country, and we stand on the Ocala and St. Louis platforms. There are now 100,000 memplatforms. There are now 100,000 mem-bers of the Farmers' Alliance in Cali-

The Methodist Church was beautifully decorated on Wednesday evening for the reception tendered President Eliot of Har-vard University by the citizens of San Ber-nardino. Suspended above the pulpit was a large banner, about twelve feet long by eighteen inches wide, made with a solid ground of golden California poppies, in which was set the word "Harvard" in white roses, and 1636, the date of the founding of the institution, on the left, and 1892 of the right of it. Upon the stand and pulpit floor were immense vases of calla and rose

The curtains in front of the choir loft were a mass of rosebuds, and a large screen to the left of the pulpit, composed of white flowers, bore the word "Welcome," wrought in colored rosebuds. Long before the hour of opening the exercises the church was crowded, there being about a thousand people present.

President Eliot was introduced with a few apt remarks by Will A. Harris, who spoke of the work of education as exemplified in Harvary University, and of President Eliot as the leader in that grand forward move-ment. The Board of Trade has called a mass meeting of citizens for Saturday night.
The purpose of the meeting is to discuss natters of local importance, and it is given out that every one will be allowed to ex-press his views concerning the questions that are now agitating the public. At the ast meeting no one spoke except those in last meeting no one spoke except those in favor of county division and against city division, and some of those on the other side of these two questions expressed themselves as being very indignant over having no voice in the matter. These meetings are being held under the auspices of the Board of Trade, and, as some of the people objected to the manner in which the last meeting was conducted, the board, which is always endeavoring to work for the good of the city, will give all a chance to speak. We will, no doubt, hear some interesting speeches, and everybody can be well informed on local matters.

low Jim Glass Proved that He is Made Jim Glass, the handsome son of the Chief of Police of this city, is a hero: and, while he does not wear the regulation brass buttons and blue uniform, he would not change places with any man on the force, not even the military sergeant. Like some other great men, lim's greatness was forced upon him in about this style. Night before last a man named Schenk and his wife called at the Chief's residence on Twenty-second street, and in a most excited manner aroused the sleeping Chief and in stage whispers informed him that a couple of burglars had just entered the old Donohue residence in the neighborhood.

Jim overheard the exciting conversation, and while the Chief was dressing his offspring was not idle, and when the front door opened Jim was only a step benind his father and the party hurried to the Donohue house. "There was a light in the front part of the house a few minutes ago," whispered Mrs. Schenk, "and we could see the burglars helping themselves, but I don't see the the light now, and I guess they are

The Chief had learned by this time that no one was living in the house, as the raminy nad left only a day or two before, but the place was still furn-ished, and he believed that a lot of valuables might be secreted in some of the rooms. The chief suddenly remem-bered that he had no arms with him and as Jim was in the same boat, he did not know exactly what to do, but it would be a disgrace to let a couple of ourglars escape when they were so sidely trapped, and in a few minutes the house was surrounded.

Jim secured an old-style, single-shot pistol from Schenk, and as he was the only one in the party with anything in the shape of arms he was stationed at the front door. The Chief and Schenk armed themselves with a couple of stout sticks, and while the Chief made his way to the rear of the house to cap-ture the thieves when Jim drove them out, Mr. Schenk guarded one side and Mrs. Schenk took her station in a window in her own house where she could have a good view of the unprotected side of the Donohue house.

When all was ready the signal was given for Jim to force the front door and frighten the thieves out, but the front door was built by some carpenter who understood his business, and Jim's narrow gauge frame which was thrown against it back first failed to have any effect.

Just at this exciting moment Officer Just at this exciting moment Officer Baker put in an appearance and joined the chief in the rear of the building.

He could hear them walk-ing around in their stocking feet, and as they neared the front dood Jim grasped his single-barrel pistol and pregrasped his single-barrel pistor and pre-pared for a bloody fight. They did not open the door as soon as Jim expected them, so he began to yell again and threatened all kinds of things against the burglars in case they did not open up at once. He gave another shove, and yelled, "Who are you, anyway?" "Little Willie Dunn, please sir. Mrs. Donohue got me and my chum to sleep

Pel-ton, notice of which was given in last Tuesday's Times, was brought before the Institute yesterday afternoon by Super-intendent Seamans and Mr. Foshay, president of the County Board of Educa-tion. Mr. Pelton is about to publish a book and the teachers were asked to sub scribe for this little volume. The response was prompt, and between $40 $50 was soon heaped up on the table where subscriptions were received. It is in just such cases as this that a teacher's pension is needed. Prof. Pel-ton gave the best years of his life in es-tablishing a school system in California, was the first County Superintendent of the San Francisco schools, organized the first State Reform School at Marysville and was continuously connected with the educational departments of San Francisco and the State for twenty-five years. A severe shock of paralysis deprived him of his faculties for several deprived him of his faculties for several years, and although now in full possession of his speech he is quite deaf. The State owes Prof. Pelton a debt which it should recognize. Her drawing blanks are adopted by nearly all the schools in the State and her pupils are admitted to Wellesley College without examination. The drawings exhibited are worth half a day's study, beginning with the work of the first grade, little children of 6 years old, and passing through the successive stages up to the High school, which is literally a school of design in this particular—designs for tiles, ceilings, inlaid floors, friezes, frames, plate and menu cards, which would be hard to surpass by artists of exceptional merit. The children draw wholly from objects and never from pictures. A long, low table was heaped with kindergarten boxes, cubes, pyramids, cones and every geometrical figure imagin-able, done in manilla paper by the little folks. Fruit and vegetables, done in clay and colored true to nature by the first grade little ones, show good progress in clay modeling. Here were also exhibited specimens

Our Method a Success-The Hit of the Season.

Season.

By adopting the principles of the timeworn adage, "Quick sales and small profit," has brought unqualified success. Thousands of ladies cheerfully testify that Mozart's style and quality of millinery is equal to any in this city. Others may copy our styles, but none our low prices.

It is absurd for ladies to pay high prices for millinery when at Mozart's the identical same hat, the same flowers and the same style may be had for much less price, sometimes 50 per cent less than many other places. No store can live and sell cheap unless they handle the quantities. We claim to sell more millinery then any two stores in the millinery line in this city: therefore we can exist on smaller profits than any competitor. In all cander we ask you to come petitor. In all candor we ask you to come

The hit of the season has been our special sale of a hat and flower at 50 cents for both, in all colors and all sizes and many shapes. The same would be considered cheap at 81 elsewhere.

Your goods to sell them best," said a famous merchant. There you have it: The man who loves his goods-not as a miser, but as a merchant-can sell them. He can sell them over the counter or through the paper. Suppose his sentences are crude, and ungrammatical even; that don't count, He talks from conviction. He is in earnest. His belief kindles yours. What more can talking do? What more can advertising do.

That's our kind of a merchant. We love our goods because we think they are the best to be had for the money. But we don't love them so much that we want to keep them, so we mark them at Right Prices right from the word go. "Off with the old love and on with the new." That's our idea. The more we can sell the sooner we can buy new. Right Prices carry out the idea, and our business is growing every day under these methods. Look the town over; examine the prices of our competitors, then come to us and compare ours. If you do we'll sell you sure.
